Introduction

In the last decade the pace of public school closings has accelerated. This report documents the activity and provides a summary of the new uses of former schools.

Peak Enrollements

There are 73 school districts wholly or partially within Suffolk County. If those school districts had never closed a school building, there would be 422 school buildings housing primary and secondary public education.

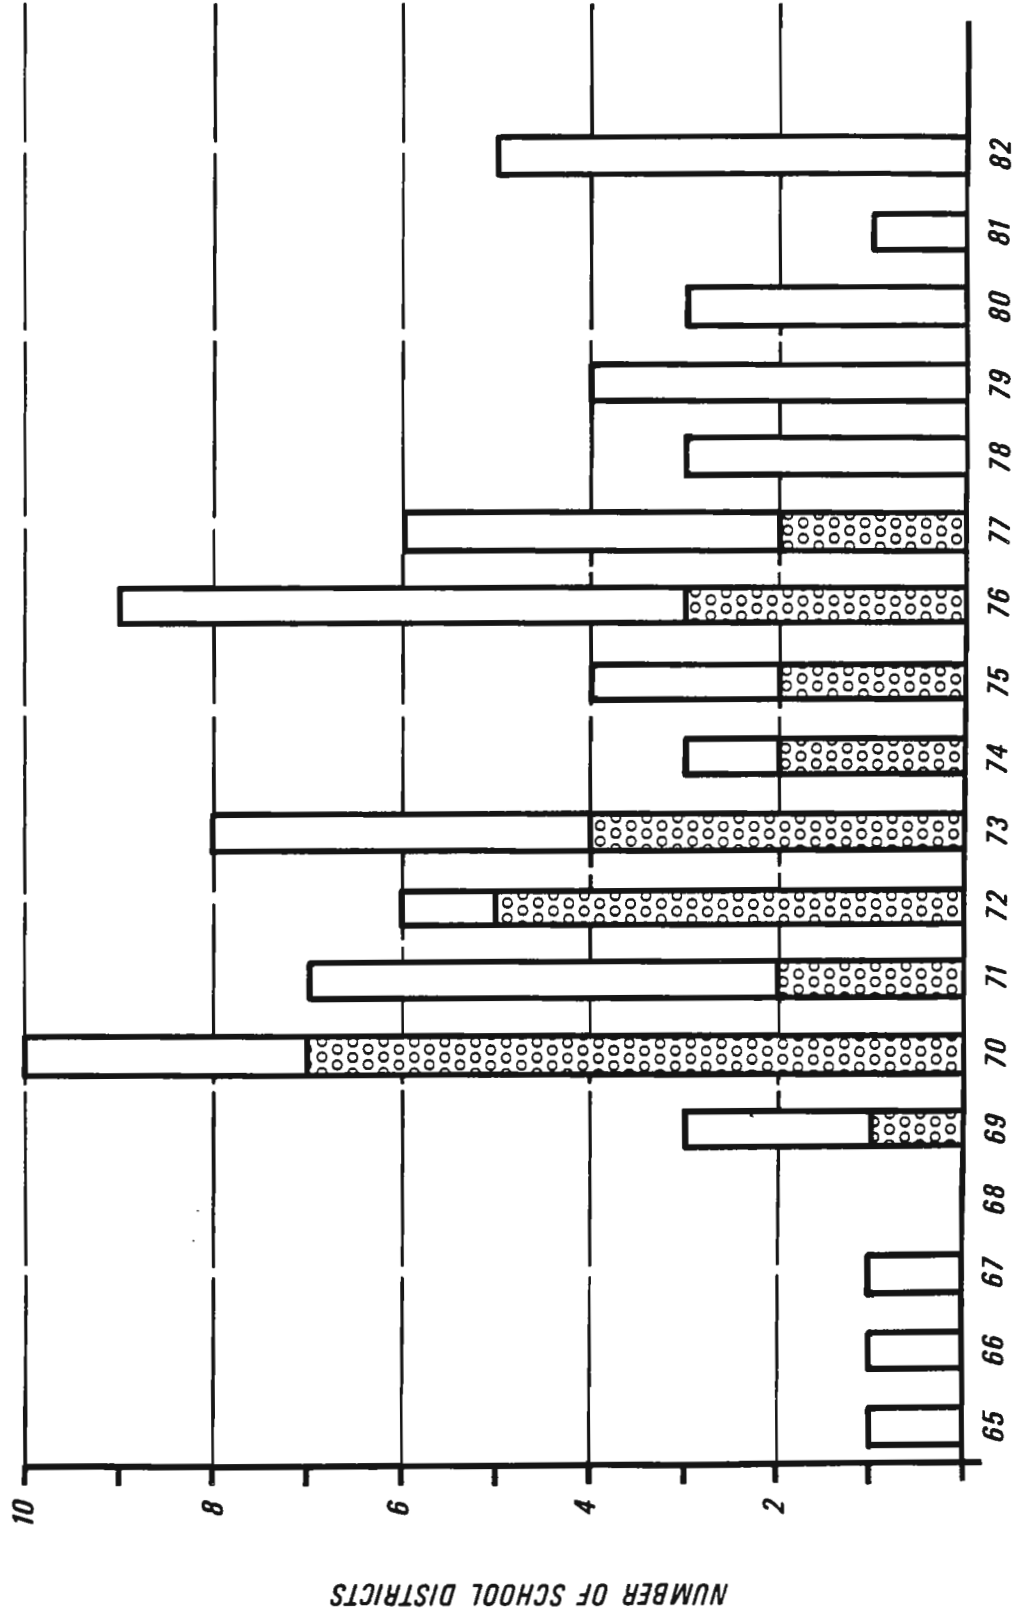

Of the 73 school districts, only five districts registered a peak enrollment in the 1981-1982 school year indicating a possibility for growth in the future. The remaining 68 districts peaked prior to 1982 indicating declining enrollments for the future. Fifty-three districts peaked between 1970 and 1977.

The following chart depicts the number of school districts by the year the peak enrollment ended. Two school districts, East Moriches which peaked in 1977 and 1978 and Southampton which peaked in 1970 and 1972, were included twice on the chart because of their double peaks.

The proportion of school districts that closed or recycled school buildings since 1965 have been shaded on the peak year chart. Of the 73 school districts, 28 school districts or 38.4% closed at least one and, in one case, as many as 11 school buildings since 1965. Appendix Table 1 contains the peak years and peak enrollments for the school districts.

Vacant and Recycled School Buildings

Since 1965, 69 or 16% of the school buildings built in Suffolk have been vacated, recycled or demolished. Table 1 indicates the distribution of the buildings by town. Smithtown and Huntington towns top the list with over 30% of the school buildings being used for other than their original intent.

Appendix Table 2 contains the total school buildings built and the number and percent of buildings vacant or reused by school district as of September, 1983.

Table 2 contains as detailed list of the 28 school districts that have closed schools since 1965. The number of schools closed as well as the years the schools were closed have been included. The majority of the schools were closed after 1976.

Disposition of Closed School Buildings

The school districts in Suffolk have disposed of excess school buildings in the same fashion as Nassau County. The Nassau County Planning Department compiled data comparable with the Suffolk data included in this volume. The Nassau data is current as of July 1983 and the Suffolk data's current as of September 1983.

The following table contains the disposition of the recycled buildings in the bi-county region.

Disposition	Number of School Buildings
	Suffolk	Nassau	Region
Sold	29	29	58
Completely Leased	20	19	39
Retained by School District	5	8	13
Building Demolished, Property Retained by School District	0	2	2
Partly Leased, Partly Retained	1	5	6
Vacant - Under Consideration by Board of Education	7	6	13
Vacant - For Sale or Lease	6	5	11
Under Contract, or in Negotiation for Sale	1	3	4
	69	77	146

There is a similarity between the two counties in the distribution by disposition. In each county the largest proportion of the schools have been sold with the next largest proportion leased.

Usage of Recycled Sold and Leased Buildings: Suffolk County

	Sold	Leased
Conference Center	1	0
Housing	6	0
Office Building	4	1
Library	2	0
Private School	7	8
BOCES	0	9
YMHA & YMCA	2	1
Church	2	0
Town Hall/offices	3	0
Sr. Citizen Center	1	1
Not Determined	1	0
	29	20

The largest proportion of the sold schools and an overwhelming majority of the leased school buildings have continued their use as an educational facility. Of the leased buildings, 17 of the 20 are reused as schools, 9 are leased by BOCES and 8 are private schools. The 3 remaining leased buildings are an office building, a YMCA and a Sr. Citizen Center.

Of the sold buildings, the second highest proportion are reused for housing, from condominiums to subsidized housing to a large dwelling. Seven of the schools are now office buildings with three of those accommodating the Town Halls of Southampton, Huntington and Islip. It should be noted that the majority of the reuse is for public services such as other schools, municipal offices, Senior Citizen centers, libraries and churches.

Appendix Table 3 contains detailed information by school district for each closed and reused school buildings in Suffolk County with the year closed and the disposition of the building.

Methodology

The data for this volume was gathered in September 1983 by telephone inquiries and, in the larger school districts, by letter. The total number of school buildings was extracted from the Directory of Public Schools and Administrators, New York State 1981-82 published by the State Education Department.

It is important to note that although this information is current as of September, 1983 the data is constantly changing. This information does, however, give the reader an idea of the magnitude of the closed schools and the variety of reuses.
